Dear Sirs/Mesdames:

Re: Request for Comments - National Instrument 54-101

While the proposed National Instrument 54-101 does not fully meet the objectives of issuers, this company supports the implementation of the Policy, as proposed as a first step to allow direct communication with most of our investors.

We particularly want to point out some areas of concern:

Article 2.13

The ability to gain access to non-objecting owners names and addresses is a giant leap forward. We are, however, concerned that no fee has been mandated to obtain this information. We also want to point out, that it is the financial intermediaries who should bear the cost of providing the beneficial shareholder lists since it represents a service to their clients.

Article 2.18

We believe that the right of an owner to attend a meeting of holders and to vote is still too complex. We suggest that discussions continue with various industry groups to develop alternatives to the proposed procedures.

Administrative Burden

The proposed policy does not effectively address the use of new technology. For example, although the financial intermediaries can provide e-mail addresses, we are prevented from using this method to communicate with our investors. We suggest that this point be reconsidered.

Yours truly,

ARLINGTON VENTURES LTD.
