To Whom It May Concern:

RE: RRP Legislation

As a resident of Alberta and a long time investor, I have some concerns regarding the proposed Registration Reform Project Legislation.

It appears to me that there is adequate regulation in place and the addition of another review board would ultimately cost the investor. I think consideration should be given to needs of the investor. Who will end up absorbing the extra cost?

Individuals have as to where they place their trust concerning their money matters. If we are satisfied with the level of service being provided we should not be forced to adhere to yet another level of government intervention.

Please take a careful look at this proposal. I feel it is redundant and the cost will end up coming from my pocket!

Sincerely,

Rosalie Paladeau.
