

I wish to register my objection to having to report detailed information to people selling me investments.

I also wish to register my objection to the requirement to qualify based upon the amount what I wish to invest. It does not make any sense that if I wish to invest only $10,000.00 in private wealth situations such as a Limited Partnership Unit that I do not have to qualify but for $11,000.00 to $159,000.00 I have to demonstrate by income or assets but if I wish to invest over $159,000.00 again I do not have to qualify at that level. So if someone receives a large amount of money one day even from a lottery they would not have to qualify to invest but are they any smarter the day after a lottery win? Your commissions tampering with my wishes to invest are unwanted. I would like to be able to invest in anything I wish to invest in without having to jump through your hoops.

Thank you
