

I am against the changes put forth by this proposed regulation.

My financial information should be my own business and not available to investments firms unless I choose. In today's age with security issues of electronic files this is unacceptable.

Oral Kenzie