

Since when do I need government's or a financial institution's permission to invest into something that I want to invest and am willing to take that risk? What benefit is this to me as an investor?

I object very strongly against supplying all my financial information because I have made a decision to invest in an exempt market security.

Linda Schroter