

To whom it may concern:

I am very against divulging my personal financial information to a salesperson to be able to invest in an exempt market security. That information is none of their business and who are they to say I can't invest.

Please stop this nonsense.

Diane Bosomworth