

Regarding the proposed regulatory changes re: investments, I would like to voice my opinion as not being in agreement with having to provide all my financial information in order to be allowed to invest. By signing a statement as to my net worth, I should not need to have to start proving it. I am responsible once I sign, and would appreciate being allowed to make some of my own decisions in matters as such. In addition, I would like to add that anyone should be allowed to invest as they so desire. After all, it is their money!

Thank you,
Betty Robson
